THE CANAL BILL PASSED

Our Government Will Aid the Nicaragua Enterprise.

THE SENATE'S VOTE DECISIVE.

The Work Will be Pushed Under the Supervision of a Board of Fifteen Directors, Ten of Whom Are to be Appointed by the President.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The bill pledging the faith of the United States to the construction of the Nicaragua canal passed the senate last night by the decisive vote of 37 yeas to 21 nays. The final vote was not announced until 6:30 o'clock. The Nicaraguan minister and many other diplomats interested in the project had seats in the diplomatic galleries throughout the voting.

The bill, in brief, directs the issue of $70,000,000 Nicaragua canal bonds. Each of these is to bear the following guarantee: "The United States of America guarantees to the lawful holder of this bond the payment by the Maritime Canal company, of Nicaragua, of the principal of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon, and as it accrues."

An additional $30,000,000 of bonds is to be issued without the United States guarantee. The total $100,000,000 thus issued is to be used in constructing the interoceanic canal. The secretary of the treasury is to have general supervision of the project. A board of fifteen directors is to have immediate charge of the work. Of this board the president is to designate ten members, no more than two from any one state. The United States is to receive $70,000,000 of canal company stock in return for guaranteeing the bonds, and is to hold a mortgage lien on all the property of the canal company.

Aside from the final debate and vote on the Nicaragua bill the main interest of the day attached to a very caustic speech by Mr. Mills (Tex.) upholding the administration policy in Hawaii, and incidentally scoring the sugar trust.

The sundry civil bill passed the house yesterday in the shortest time, so far as known, on record. It was under consideration but three days. As passed, the bill carries $30,125,721. Two propositions, offered respectively by Mr Sayers and Mr. Coombs, the former to clothe the secretary of the treasury with power to issue United States bonds of such denominations as he should see fit, in stead of as now, to reissue them of the same denomination, and the latter to retire and cancel the gold certificates and make them non-receivable for custom dues after July 1 next, furnished the principal theme of discussion. Mr. Sayers' proposition was defeated by a vote of 74 to 87, while that of Mr. Coombs was carried without division.

Binghamton's Bank Defalcation.

ALBANY, Jan. 26.—The closing of the Chenango Valley Savings bank in Binghamton, pending an examination into its affairs, occasioned by the discovery by State Bank Examiner Backus of the defalcation on the part of Treasurer Morgan, of the bank, is to be made the occasion, undoubtedly, for future legislation to provide for the separation of savings banks from banks of discount. Superintendent Preston is informed that Morgan confesses to a defalcation of from $15,000 to $20,000. Examiner Backus is uncertain as to the true amount, but thinks it must be more.

Killed by a Powder Explosion.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—A terrible explosion occurred in the Westmoreland firebrick mines, at Hunter's Station, which will result in the death of a young man named Albright and perhaps another named Elmer Kauffman, and the serious injury of Frank Kauffman, an elder brother. The men were seated around a can containing five pounds of rock powder, when it was ignited and an explosion ensued, burning all of the men in a horrible manner.

Another Skating Record Lowered.

RED BANK, N. J., Jan. 26.—The feature of the skating matches here yesterday was the breaking of the two mile record by Olaf Rudd. He covered the distance in 5.42 3-5. The previous record was held by Joe Donoghue, who skated here two years ago in 6.05 3-5.

Severe Snow Storm in the Northwest.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Chicago is snowbound to-day, and that, apparently, for the last eighty years. The storm began at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. An hour's fierce snow was coming down in sheets, which were hurled through the streets by a gale which was blowing sixty-five miles an hour. Reports from all over the northwest showed the storm to be widespread and severe.

Child Killed by a Cyclone.

ABILENE, Ala., Jan. 26.—A cyclone struck the western portion of this county yesterday, doing considerable damage. The house of Mr. Spikes was blown to pieces, one of his little children killed, and another seriously injured. The cyclone came from the southwest, and was accompanied by a heavy mist, making it appear as a solid sheet of water.

Evidence of Infanticide.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 26.—A dead white baby was found in a flour bag in a back yard in Downingtown. There is evidence of murder.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Commercial Agencies Give a Rather Discouraging Report.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Events have not helped business this week. About $10,850,000 gold has been withdrawn from the treasury, mainly for export, and the gold reserve has been reduced to about $58,000,000. Since Dec. 8 the treasury has lost, in thirty-nine working days, about $32,000,000 gold, and daily increasing distrust is liable to affect markets unfavorably. Industries have not yet found sufficient demand for their products to prevent further decline in prices, and this week the average for all commodities has again touched the lowest point ever known. The number of hands employed does not increase, and a strike has cut off for more than a week about half the business of Brooklyn, to some extent affecting trade here.

At bottom business hesitates because the future is clouded and the consuming demand has not increased in January, as was expected. In belief that it would industries had enlarged production, and until it does the excess of producing capacity constantly tends to depress prices.

The failures for the past week have been 303 in the United States, against 439 for the same week last year, and 59 in Canada, against 55 last year.

Bradstreets' review says: Special telegraphic and mail advices from the more important distributing centers fail to reveal any marked improvement in the movement of merchandise and products, and the conclusion is forced that the general trade situation remains as previously characterized—small volume, low prices, hand to mouth sales and the outlook favoring a very conservative trade for some time to come.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

A Bill to Punish Persons Giving False Reports to Newspapers.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 26.—A short session of the house was held yesterday, at which seventy-seven bills were read the first time. A concurrent resolution indorsing the Stone bill providing for consular inspection of immigrants and urging its speedy passage by congress was adopted. Among the bills introduced were: Amending the charter of the city of Carbondale by providing for the election of poor directors in each of its six wards; extending the act of May 5, 1891, by giving electric light, heat and power companies the same privileges in municipalities as electric street railways; to prevent the docking and mutilation of horses' tails; providing for a fine of $5 and imprisonment of two years, or both, for any person to wilfully procure the publication of false statements; requiring the publication in two newspapers of notice of the sale by county commissioners of lands seized by them for non-payment of taxes.

The house adjourned until Monday evening.

The War Against the Standard Oil Trust.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 26.—The war against the Standard Oil company is on in earnest. The company which was projected at the Butler meeting of independent oil producers has taken decided shape, and will be formed and under charter within a month. David B. Kirk, of this city, who was one of the vice presidents of the meeting, says: "The company will embrace all independent producers and refiners in the United States. We will have a capital of $10,000,000 to start with, and can get $5,000,000 when it is needed. The company will be called the 'Pure Oil company of Pennsylvania,' and we will erect a plant in every city in the United States where the Standard has one. We will handle only pure oil."

Impending Revolution in Bulgaria.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Frankfurter Zeitung says a revolution is impending in Bulgaria. The movement, which aims at the deposition of Prince Ferdinand from the Bulgarian throne, is under the concerted leadership of ex-Premier Stambuloff and M. Zankoff, the notorious agitator, who recently returned from exile by virtue of a grant of amnesty by the government.

SIX EXPLOSION VICTIMS.

Killed by the Bursting of a Brewery Boiler at Mendota, Ills.

MENDOTA, Ills., Jan. 26.—Yesterday afternoon the main building of Henning's brewery, in this city, was wrecked by a boiler explosion, the concussion being so great that every building in the city was badly shaken. The building destroyed was five stories in height and filled with machinery. The force of the explosion completely demolished it, killing seven men and badly injuring six others.

The killed are: C. Seifert, fireman; David Wells, fireman; David Gheer, engineer; Lemuel de Shaso, iceman; Henry Pert, laborer; John Kennedy, a well borer, of DeKalb, and Adam Bresshead.

The injured are: James Love, Chicago, arm broken and head badly cut; A. McLeod, Chicago, head and face cut; George Parker, Chicago, head cut; F. McCarpenter, badly hurt; William Long, badly hurt; Henry Varmore, badly hurt.

The Chicago men and Kennedy, of DeKalb, had but lately come here, and were engaged in sinking a well near the building.

Up to a late hour no more bodies had been found in the debris, and a blinding snow storm almost stops work, but it is thought more men are buried under the ruins of brick and beams. The loss of property amounts to over $100,000, and a large number of men are thrown out of employment.

The explosion had an upward tendency, lifting the building, and then everything fell into a huge heap in the center of the structure. A large number of people received injuries in removing beams and lumber. The work of removing the ruins is progressing slowly, and it will be a day or more before the list of dead will be complete.

THE EARTHQUAKE AT KUCHAN

Latest Reports Show That Over Twelve Hundred Were Killed.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—A dispatch from Teheran gives further details of the destructive earthquake at Kuchan. The first shock occurred at noon on Thursday, Jan. 17. This was followed by another, and in three minutes the town was in ruins. It is stated that the loss of life was enormous. Most of the victims were crushed to death by falling buildings, but many were burned to death, the ruins in which they were entangled having caught fire.

Six hundred were entombed in a mosque while engaged in prayer. Six hundred other persons perished in the various baths. The survivors could obtain neither food nor water for three days, the telegraph lines having been destroyed, and many who escaped being killed by the earthquake perished from hunger and exposure. Not a single building remains standing in the town.

Since the 17th the shocks have been repeated daily. One shock, which occurred at 6 o'clock on the evening of Jan. 22, was equal in severity to the first one, which caused the destruction of the city. This shock of Jan. 22 was followed by three others at intervals of from one to four hours.

The correspondent says it is pitiful to witness the terror stricken people huddled in groups and exposed to the inclemency of the weather, which continues intensely cold. No shelter of any kind is available, and no medical assistance is at present procurable.

The Lynching of Treasurer Scott.

O'NEILL, Neb., Jan. 26.—Developments in the Scott case have laid the whole conspiracy which resulted in the lynching before the authorities. Fifty men are involved in the affair, many of them of state prominence. It is proven to be the work of an oath bound organization which has for twenty-six years held sway in Holt county and defied the law. The members of the committee who were friendly to Scott knew that he was to be lynched, but they were not acquainted with the time and place at which the murderous work was to be accomplished.

Banker Smith Convicted.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 26.—Nearly the entire day was consumed in the argument of the demurrer to the evidence in the case of E. K. Smith, the Columbia banker, charged with embezzlement, and at its conclusion, late yesterday afternoon, Judge Livingston decided against the defendant and directed that a verdict be entered. Sentence was suspended, pending motions for a new trial and in arrest of judgment. There are nearly a score of similar indictments against him.

Confiscated Arms Released.

FERNANDINA, Fla., Jan. 26.—Collector of Customs Boltzell has released the arms seized on board the yacht Lagonda in this port, and those in the warehouse of A. B. Borden, ex-Spanish vice consul here. United States District Attorney Clark says that nothing further will be done in the supposed filibustering expedition.

Trying to Secure a Jury.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—The weary work of filling the jury box in the Hayward murder trial continues. Yesterday one more juryman was secured, Charles Pribble, a farmer. It is doubtful whether the jury will be completed by night. A local paper prints a number of interviews with shopmates of Juror Newell, going to show that he is opposed to capital punishment, and is therefore not a fit juror. No notice of the matter has yet been taken in court.

Jolley Will Escape Punishment.

MEMPHIS, Jan. 26.—Harry Jolley, indicted for embezzlement of $2,100 from the C. O. and S. W. and Cotton Belt railroad, which he served here as agent, paid over the amount and was released from custody. The indictment against Jolley will be quashed under the peculiar Tennessee statute which permits such procedure in cases of embezzlement where the full amount taken is restored.

A Swindling Bookkeeper's Sentence.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Recorder Goff in general sessions yesterday sentenced William H. Leffer, the swindling bookkeeper of Knauth, Nachod & Kuehne, bankers and brokers at No. 13 William street, who, according to his own confession, forged signatures and indorsements to checks aggregating more than $5,000, to six years and six months in state prison.

THE BROOKLYN STRIKE.

Mayor Schieren Says the Cars Are Running Satisfactorily.

STRIKERS STILL TALK OF VICTORY

As Several of Their Number Have Deserted the Ranks, However, It Would Indicate That They Are Badly Beaten—An Over Zealous Priest.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 26.—Mayor Schieren expressed the opinion this morning that the strike was over so far as it would affect the convenience of the public. Colonel Appleton, of the Seventh regiment, said he expected to be relieved from detail very soon. Master Workman Connelly still maintains that the strikers will win, but a dozen strikers applied to the Brooklyn City railroad yesterday for reinstatement, and were put to work. Street car officials say they will be glad to take back old men, but they will not be allowed to displace the new ones taken on. More cars were run yesterday than on any day since the strike began. Mayor Schieren declares, as a result of personal inspection, that the lines are giving good service. The mandamus which it is sought to have issued to compel the companies to run cars is not of much importance under these circumstances.

The most serious disturbance yesterday occurred at Greenpoint, in opening up the Flushing and Graham avenue line. There were no militiamen stationed at that point, and the police force was not strong enough to cope with the mob of 2,000, which made riotous demonstrations and stoned the cars. Father P. T. O'Hara, of St. Anthony's church, had given Mayor Schieren an assurance that he would be responsible for the maintenance of order at this point. In his zeal to keep his agreement he persuaded a new motorman to leave his car in order to remove the cause of the trouble. Then he read to the mob a message from Mayor Schieren, saying that unless order was preserved he would have to send militia. The crowd then dispersed and the stalled cars were run back to the depot, but no further attempt to run them was made for the day.

"This is the most encouraging day we have had during the strike," said Master Workman Thomas Murry to the Associated Press reporter last evening as he entered the strikers' headquarters. "If you will sit down here for a while I will show you why we are so much encouraged. We are getting the new men away from the railroad companies as fast as they arrive. From 9 this morning until 3 this afternoon we induced twenty new men to leave their posts at Ridgewood, and so far today we have rescued thirty men at the other end of the line, to say nothing of the number we stopped before they reached this side of the river from New York. We have done all this, remember, without any violence or intimidation, and the newcomers in every case have yielded willingly."

While the reporter was talking with the master workman a number of non-union men were brought in by the striking scouts. One of these was a motorman named Squires, from Baltimore. He said he was an expert motorman, but coming from a warm climate, so thinly clad, and being compelled to feed on "red horse and punk" and sleep on the floor, he did not want the job bad enough to stay longer. He said the company owed him $2. Squires was the motorman who took out the first car on the Myrtle avenue and one of the other lines.

The reporter noticed many of the new conductors handing in their envelopes without money. They declared they had taken in no fares.

Judge Gaynor heard the arguments on the question whether the mandamus against the Brooklyn Heights company should be alternative or peremptory. At its conclusion he announced that he would render a decision some time today.

At Maspeth a lot of non-union motormen were taken from a car and locked up in a hall by strikers. The trouble was temporarily settled by the strikers winning over the non-union men. All of the non-unionists subscribed to an oath that they would not again enter the company's employ while the strike lasted.

The demonstrations of the day were confined principally to wire cutting and to small and unorganized attacks on the street car property or on the militia. An effort is being made to secure an indictment for murder against the militiaman who shot Thomas Carney, the tin roofer, on Hicks street, who died as a result of his wound.

Messrs. Feeney Robertson and Purcell, comprising the state arbitration committee which left Albany Thursday night for Brooklyn, were in secret session at the Hotel St. George yesterday afternoon and subpœnaed Messrs. Lewis and Norton, whom they examined as to the cause and status of the strike. The committee also sent a note to Mayor Schieren requesting the presence of that official at the examination, but the mayor positively declined to attend.

At 5:30 last evening the trolley wires that were cut on Fulton street near Saratoga avenue at 1:30 were repaired, and the half hundred cars which had been stalled on both tracks for four hours proceeded on their trips. Guards from the Seventy-first regiment preserved order while the repairs were being made.

One of the Train Robbers Captured.

CAMDEN, Ark., Jan. 26.—The sheriff of this county yesterday arrested a man named Redpath on suspicion of being one of the men who held up the Cotton Belt train at McNeill Wednesday night. He is a brother-in-law of Joe Wesson, the only member of the Cook gang No. 2 still at large.

Four Drowned in a Whirlpool.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Jan. 26.—Just below Bauger's Landing, in Concordia parish, a flatboat containing two men, a woman and a child, was capsized in a whirlpool, and all on board were drowned. The occupants of the boat were unknown.

M. RIBOT AGAIN PREMIER.

He Will Attempt the Formation of a Cabinet Under President Faure.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—As M. Bourgeois, despite the urgings of President Faure, insisted on his inability to form a cabinet, the president yesterday summoned M. Ribot and requested him to assume the premiership. M. Ribot has had consultations with MM. Poincaire, Lebon, Barthou and others, and will probably be successful in forming a cabinet. It is expected that M. Ribot will be supported by the Moderates with the aim of passing the budget bill without the clause providing for an income tax.

PREMIER RIBOT.

M. Ribot visited the president at the palace of the Elysee at 9 o'clock last night and afterward held a political reception at his residence. It is reported that he will take the portfolio of finance.

M. Ribot, who is 53 years old, has been in public life at intervals since 1870. He was first elected to the chamber of deputies in 1878. He served as minister of foreign affairs in the cabinet of M. Freycinet, in 1890. In 1890 he became premier under President Carnot, holding the position only four months. Since his retirement from the premiership, in March, 1893, he has occupied a rather obscure place in politics. The wife of M. Ribot was formerly Miss Minnie Burch, of Chicago.

TERRIBLE SLEIGHING ACCIDENT.

A Merry Party Run Down by a Train and Two Killed.

SUNBURY, Pa., Jan. 26.—A freight train on the Sunbury and Lewistown railroad ran into a Selin's Grove sleighing party at Kreamer Station. Two persons were instantly killed and a dozen others injured, four of them seriously.

Eighteen persons were in a large sled returning home from Middleburg, where they had been attending a dance. The noise made by the sleigh bells prevented the driver hearing the approaching train, and before he was aware of what was transpiring the big engine crashed into the side of the sled just back of the driver's seat. The driver, Charles Romig, aged 24 years, was literally ground to pieces under the wheels. His father, Isaac Romig, was sitting on the same seat. His skull was crushed and his body was found on the pilot.

Lawyer A. W. Potter had both arms crushed. The right arm has been amputated at the elbow, but it is believed that the left one can be saved. Miss Mollie Burns, aged 21 years, had her right leg so badly crushed that it was amputated at the knee. She is one of the prettiest girls in Selin's Grove, and is a leader in society. Miss Lottie Eby had both legs severely injured.

Mrs. Charles Ulrich was injured about the spine. Not one of the party escaped without a bruise of some kind.

A Fruitless Senatorial Caucus.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The Republican senatorial caucus was in session for over two hours yesterday, and adjourned without taking any action on any subject, although almost every question before the senate was referred to, and some of the more important questions were discussed at some length. The principal subject under consideration was that of taking a position on the question of the senatorial election in the state where there are senatorial deadlocks. There was general opposition to senatorial interference, and therefore no propositions were offered.

Will Accept the Reception.

MONONGAHELA CITY, Pa., Jan. 26.—A meeting of the fourth pool miners was held at Roscoe yesterday afternoon. Every pit in the fourth pool was represented and each delegate reported his mine as idle against the reduction. After a two hours' session it was agreed to accept the reduction, $1.75, and notify the lower pools that they were ready to strike at any time for the price that the men below would agree to. It was further decided to ask all operators to pay cash wages only, semi-monthly, and allow their men the privilege of dealing where they pleased.

Japanese Await Reinforcements.

TIENTSIN, Jan. 26.—The Chinese met the advance of the Japanese army near Chang Bay on Thursday and repulsed them. Some of the Japanese were killed. It is believed that the Japanese will await a larger force before making the attack on Wei-Hai-Wei. A Peking dispatch states Wang Wen Shao, ex-viceroy of Yunnan, has been appointed to assist Li Hung Chang in the superintendence of trade, thus further curtailing the latter's functions.

Gone After Treasurer Taylor.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Jan. 26.—John Orendorff, the sheriff sent here to take custody of Treasurer Taylor, of South Dakota, left Chamberlain with Marshal Grimes and a posse early this morning that he would have Taylor under arrest before night. He left word for the Baker authorities in case of their arrival, but kept his destination a profound secret. It is likely that he thinks his man is to be met somewhere in the country.

Quigley Gets Fifteen and a Half Years.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Ed Quigley, forger, was sentenced by Recorder Goff in the court of general sessions to fifteen years and six months in the state prison. Quigley pleaded guilty to the two additional indictments found against him on Thursday and threw himself on the mercy of the court. This he did at the suggestion of Recorder Goff.

Twenty-one Sailors Drowned.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Severe storms prevail over all the coasts of Great Britain, France and Holland. A fishing boat belonging to Dunbar, with a crew of seven men on board, has been lost, and off Porth Reath, Cornwall, the British steamship Escurial, owned at Glasgow, with a crew of fourteen men, has gone down.

PEACEFUL OVERTURES.

Our Government May Prevent the Mexico-Guatemala War.

HOSTILITIES MAY BE AVERTED.

A Message from Secretary Gresham to Mexico Results in That Government Delaying Her Intended Warlike Answer to Guatemala's Latest Diplomatic Note.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 26.—The United States has undertaken to play the part of peacemaker between Mexico and Guatemala, to prevent war if possible. A telegram has been received here from Secretary Gresham expressing the hope that Guatemala and Mexico would agree between themselves upon some method of settling the dispute over the boundary, but if this should not be possible the United States trusted the two countries would agree to submit this difference to arbitration of some friendly nation.

This communication, from a nation with which Mexico enjoys such intimate and friendly relations, has caused a profound impression upon the government, and undoubtedly accounts in part at least for the decision of the minister of foreign affairs to withhold for five or six days at least the ultimatum which he was about to dispatch in much less time in answer to the note from the Guatemalan government received yesterday. It is learned that the president of the United States made sure that his appeal would be received in a good spirit before sending it by first communicating in an unofficial manner with Minister Romero at Washington.

That the situation had been regarded as critical is evidenced by the fact that in the Mexican arsenal at the citadel there are being manufactured weekly from 40,000 to 50,000 Remington cartridges. They are also engaged night and day upon other work in order that all the artillery shall be completely ready at a moment's notice.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—While the state department officials positively refuse to discuss the matter there is ground for the belief that it is exerting its good offices to settle the dispute between Mexico and Guatemala over the boundary without recourse to war. Senor Romero, the Mexican minister, has been almost daily in consultation with Secretary Gresham, and while he declines to tell what his purpose is, it is significant that he steadily maintains that the trouble will be adjusted without harsh measures.

Minister Arraga, of Guatemala, is also hopeful of a peaceable adjustment of the dispute. He said today that he had not heard from his government within the past four days, and had no information as to the course of events in Guatemala further than that contained in the press dispatches. He was in consultation yesterday with Senor Mendonca, the Brazilian minister, touching the situation. It is asserted here that the Guatemalan government has all along been ready to submit the issues between Mexico and Guatemala to arbitration, and it is believed that in case the Mexican government should look with favor upon this proposition Guatemala would like Brazil to act as arbitrator. It might be noted in this connection that Guatemala is a party to the convention of South and Central American nations, providing for the submission of all disputes to arbitration, but that Mexico has never joined in the treaty.

Isaac P. Gray, United States minister to Mexico, arrived in Washington yesterday. For the past six weeks he has been in Indiana on account of the illness of his son, but undoubtedly the unsettled condition of affairs in the country which he represents influenced Mr. Gray to report here for the purpose of conferring with the secretary of state to learn the desires of the administration as to the course he should pursue in the trouble which seems on the point of precipitating Mexico and Guatemala into war, and whether it was wished that he should return to his post. A local paper quotes Minister Gray as saying that he does not think that there will be any war between Mexico and Guatemala, believing that their differences will be settled by peaceful negotiations. Further than this he declined to talk.

Terrible Blizzard in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Jan. 26.—A severe blizzard which started in Thursday midnight still prevails all over this section, with no sign of abatement. An average of three feet of snow had fallen at 10 o'clock last night and a strong northerly wind is drifting it badly, blocking all kinds of traffic and causing great hardship to farmers. It is very cold, and reports this morning received on the coop say a suffering must ensue. The storm is severest in the northern, central and western Kansas and Nebraska counties. From these sections reports of many cattle freezing to death have already been received, and as the settlers are none too well provided with food and shelter probably many fatalities will be recorded.

A Crazed Father's Awful Crime.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 26.—William H. McGrath, 37 years old, shot and killed his 5-year-old daughter Lillian at their home on South Thirty-sixth street yesterday, and then put a bullet in his own brain, dying soon afterward. All the evidence in the case indicates that McGrath was suffering with temporary insanity, the result of grip. He was passionately fond of Lillian, his eldest child, and had often said that when he died he wanted Lillian to go with him. He leaves a young and pretty wife, a boy of 6 and a girl of 3.

Hazle Mine Slope on Fire.

HAZLETON, Pa., Jan. 26.—The Hazle mine slope, the deepest in the Lehigh region, is on fire. The steam pipes have been broken off half way down the mine, and the pumps cannot be worked to fight the flames. The fire has already climbed to the slope mouth and the tower of the breaker is burning. An effort to save the breaker is being made. The colliery is the property of the Lehigh Valley Coal company.

REPORTERS OF WARS

JAMES CREELMAN AND HIS WORK AS A CORRESPONDENT IN THE ORIENT.

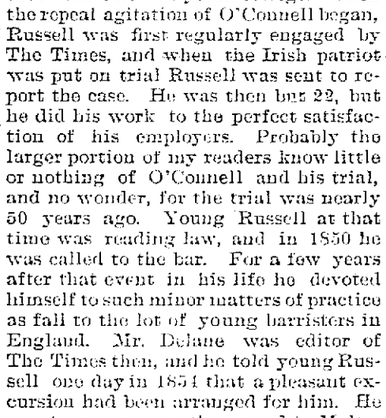
War Correspondence Now a Regular Branch of Journalism—"Bull Run" Russell and His Work—Junius Henri Browne and Other American War Correspondents.

To be a really successful war correspondent is to be really great, and James Creelman, the American newspaper man who has attracted general attention by his work reporting the war between China and Japan, has already proved his right to be considered a correspondent of energy and push. To those who knew him aforetime the knowledge of his enterprise and power to "deliver" does not come as a new thing. He has long been marked to be of more than ordinary ability and alertness.

"The war correspondent," observes Junius Henri Browne in the first chapter of his book descriptive of his experiences during our own civil war, "is the outgrowth of a very modern civilization, though Xenophon and Julius Cæsar were early examples of their profession. They, however, told the story of their own deeds, and the nineteenth century Bohemians narrate the acts of others. * * * They are the outgrowth of the great and constantly augmenting power of the press and were first fully developed and their influence felt during the Crimean contest. There were war correspondents before that day, in the Napoleonic struggle for universal domination and in our own little affair, as it now appears, with Mexico, but until the time mentioned war correspondence had not become a regular and recognized department of military-civic life."

JAMES CREELMAN.

One of the most successful of the pioneers among war correspondents was William Howard Russell, who came to be known as "Bull Run" Russell during the civil war in this country. Like so many other men who have distinguished themselves in journalism, Dr. Russell—for he is a doctor of something now, though of what this writer wots not—did not set out to be a newspaper man, but fell into the business quite incidentally, if not accidentally. His work has all been done for the London Times, and he began to write for that solid old sheet while he was yet in college. When the repeal agitation of O'Connell began, Russell was first regularly engaged by The Times, and when the Irish patriot was put on trial Russell was sent to report the case. He was then but 22, but he did his work to the perfect satisfaction of his employers. Probably the larger portion of my readers know little or nothing of O'Connell and his trial, and no wonder, for the trial was nearly 50 years ago. Young Russell at that time was reading law, and in 1850 he was called to the bar. For a few years after that event in his life he devoted himself to such minor matters of practice as fall to the lot of young barristers in England. Mr. Delane was editor of The Times then, and he told young Russell one day in 1854 that a pleasant excursion had been arranged for him. He was to accompany the guard to Malta. The English government had decided to make a display of supporting Turkey against Russia, but it was hardly dreamed by any one then that the Crimean war, with its horrors, was to follow the demonstration to report which Mr. Russell was to take an agreeable little "excursion." But so it was, and so began the real life work of one who, I should say, may properly be spoken of as the father of modern war correspondence, for, although Russell began his work before the days of the wire, before war correspondence was a recognized branch of journalism, while yet journalism itself was in its infancy indeed, he showed nearly all the qualities that have been developed by the famous correspondents of later wars. Since the Crimean war Russell has tried his hand at war reporting more than once and without suffering materially through comparison with his younger competitors. In 1861-5 he represented The Times in America. He went through the Franco-Prussian war in 1870-1, and his journalistic achievements in time of peace have been many and notable. He still lives, hale and hearty, though his hair and close cut mustache are now whitened by the snows of time.



JUNIUS HENRI BROWNE.

But, after all, it was not till the breaking of the civil contest here that war correspondence was well organized or generally recognized as a branch of newspaper service. Then, as Mr. Browne, already mentioned in this article, puts it, war correspondence on this side of the Atlantic became "as much an avocation as practicing law or selling dry goods," and very well known did the best and brightest of the correspondents become to the readers of the journals of that time. Yet to most recent readers these same names will look up from the printed page of this article into eyes that have never seen them before. Some of the world time correspondents were Richard B. Colburn of the New York World, William E. Davis of the Cincinnati Gazette, W. D. Bickham of the Cincinnati Commercial, L. L. Crounse of the New York Times, Thomas W. Knox of the New York Herald, Albert D. Richardson of the New York Tribune and Junius Henri Browne himself, also of The Tribune. Yes, and there was Henry M. Stanley, too, who has been before the public most of the time ever since the close of the war—that is, until he stopped exploring Africa and settled down to married life a few years ago. Since then we have heard very little of him.

What of the others? Well, the young folks will tell you that Colonel W. Knox is known to them as a writer of books that boys like mightily to read. I saw Mr. Browne but yesterday looking very much as he does in the portrait accompanying this article, save that his beard is now shaved off and his mustache and hair are white. Sometimes he talks of his war experiences to those he knows and likes, and it is indeed an interesting thing to hear him relate the story of his own and Richardson's capture by the Confederates when the two correspondents risked the running of the batteries at Vicksburg for the sake of "the experience." Richardson was tragically called away from this earthly stage years ago. Of the others I know little or nothing.

It may be said of these correspondents and of their fellows whose names I cannot recall that their work practically revolutionized journalism. It is true that the war and the public thirst for news concerning it spurred the correspondence on, but that should not detract from their credit in the matter. Before the great contest the special telegram was a poor and meager thing compared with what it speedily became after the firing of the first gun on Sumter. The headlines that are so great a feature of modern American newspapers had not much vogue until the war made it necessary for the editors to dress their news in such garb that he who ran might read. The general spirit of hustle and the desire to "beat the other fellow" did not begin to infuse the reporters and correspondents as it does now until the war called it into being. Before that period of fire and blood the newspaper was valued most for its opinions. Then it began to be valued most for its news, and this has held good ever since. You like to read a journal with which you can agree, but you must read one which contains the news.

"BULL RUN" RUSSELL.

So I say that the modern newspaper had its birth during the civil war, and I believe that it was quite as much the ability of the men who reported the battles and maneuvers of that war that brought about the revolution as the circumstances which furnished their opportunity.

Every war since 1865 has brought with it its crop of correspondents. Among the newer men are Archibald Forbes and the American McGahan, and Millet, the artist correspondent, and Frederick Villiers, the war artist. Forbes still flourisheth, and so do Villiers and Millet, and may they long continue to flourish. McGahan, whose services in behalf of the Bulgarians have made him immortal, died, poor fellow, before he even knew how great a fame he had made for himself. His Russian wife now lives in New York, a hard working, refined and generally respected newspaper woman.

Mention of Millet reminds me that those who picture battles are quite as deserving of mention as those who report them, but my space is about used up now, and only scant mention may be accorded the artists. It was as a war artist that Thomas Nast, afterward to be the pioneer of American caricaturists, did his first notable work. A. R. Waud was another American war artist, and A. Weiser, A. Simplon and C. Parsons also signalized themselves by their sketches of battles fought between the armies of the north and south. Still more names could be mentioned if this were anything like an adequate review of the subject. Vere Stehegin, the wonderful Russian artist, got much of his early training, too, by the sketching of battles.

And yet, though we must all recognize the fact that journalism and illustrative art have both been greatly benefited by wars, my readers will join with me, I am sure, in the hope that the professions of war correspondent and war artist may soon vanish from the face of the earth, for we are all looking for the speedy coming of that age when there shall be "no more wars."

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN SULLIVAN COUNTY ARE DOING.

All the News from All Parts of the County—Many Matters of Interest Condensed from our Sullivan Exchanges and Contributed by Wide-Awake Correspondents.

—Much interest continues to be felt in the revival meetings, now being held in Rockland.

—On account of the low price of milk the Parksville creamery is manufacturing butter instead of sending milk to New York.

—Mrs. Rudolph Honziker, wife of a Monticello harnessmaker, recently received $647.50 from the estate of a deceased sister near Hamburg, Germany.

—Rev. Philip Metzger, of Beechwoods, who was well known throughout western Sullivan, was buried, Sunday.

—Geo. H. Beck, of Eldred, has gone to Alaska, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Missionary Society, as a missionary and teacher among the Indians.

—Gardner & Co. have begun the manufacture of tissue paper at their mill at Gardnertown.

—Mr. Alex. Pinney, of Monticello, aged eighty years, fell on an icy sidewalk Sunday evening, when returning from church, and sustained a sprain of his right leg.

—At the James Crowley auction on Saturday last, cows were sold on an average for $21, a team of oxen brought $80 and one horse sold for $49.50.—Watchman.

—Isaac Jelliff, of Benton Hollow, a prominent G. A. R. man, fell from a load of hay, Jan. 14th, and suffered a concussion of the spine, which resulted in partial paralysis. He is improving, though not not able to leave his bed.

—The failure of the Merchants' Bank and of the private bank of Rose & Son, of Binghamton, will affect the Spring Brook Chemical Co., of Rockland, and several citizens of that village who are deeply interested in the suspended banks.

—Lawrence Mullen, of Parksville, whose claim for damages for personal injuries, alleged to have been sustained by the giving way of the bridge at Old Morsston, last fall, was rejected by the Town Board, last fall, has bought suit against the town of Rockland for $2,500 damages.

—Neversink is the only town in this county that will elect a Supervisor, this spring, an election there being necessary because of the resignation of Sheriff Watson. As the Board of Supervisors, without Neversink, stands seven Democrats and seven Republicans, the Neversink election becomes of unusual political importance.

—Landlord Houlihon, of the Liberty House, is having plans prepared for the erection of a handsome and modern hotel, across the street from the present building. The new hotel will have accommodations for 150 guests, and if present plans are carried out, will be in readiness for guests next summer.

—The Liberty Register is very sure that an electric railroad from that village to White Lake would yield a handsome return from passengers in the summer and from milk, butter and agricultural products at all seasons of the year.

—There are seventeen cases on the County Court Calendar to be tried next week. In addition to the calendar proper, there will be several criminal cases,—among them being the Schoonmaker indictment against ex-Sheriff B. W. Winner, and the Neversink Town Board for alleged violation of the election law.—Watchman.

—Work is to be begun on the new jail immediately, after the adjournment of the County Court, which will convene on next Monday. The whole job is to be completed on or before the 15th of next May, the preparatory work to be under the superintendence of Floyd Goble. It is to be by days' work, inasmuch as from its nature no intelligent contract was possible. The cells for the male prisoners are to occupy the space now taken by the Sheriff's office. The cells for female prisoners are to be in the southwest corner, the Sheriff's office to be directly to the left of the front door. The second story will remain undisturbed.—Watchman.

FROM PROMINENT PEOPLE.

A great many persons to our knowledge have voluntarily pronounced Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy successful in curing them of disease. Here are a number of statements that again demonstrate the value of this medicine.

Commander James S. Dean, of Gen. Grant Post, G. A. R., Rondout, N. Y., contracted an aggravated stomach trouble, which resulted in chronic dyspepsia. He suffered misery until he used Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. "After using it a week," says Commander Dean, "I felt better, and in a short while was entirely cured; that terrible distress and food breaking up sour in my throat had all gone."

Rev. I. W. Hill, Pastor Methodist Church, Accord, N. Y.: "I can speak highly of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy as a blood medicine. Ten years ago I had a cancer removed from my lip. I then began the use of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and to this day no sign of the ugly thing has reappeared."

The Sisters of Charity, St. Mary's Female Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., say: "The satisfaction we realize from the use of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy surpasses all expection."

The worst cases of eczema, salt rheum and scrofula yield to its curative power. Nervousness, sleeplessness, liver and kidney complaints and all uninary troubles are cured by its use.

This makes the total exports for the week $7,200,000, which is the largest amount shipped in any one week since April, 1893. For the four weeks ending today the gold shipments foot up nearly $20,000,000, which is greater than any month's exports since last June.

We Still Lead in Gold Production.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The Engineering and Mining Journal says: We have collected the statistics of the output for the year in sufficient detail to be able to say that the United States still holds the first rank among the gold producers, with an output of nearly $41,000,000, as compared with $35,000,000 in 1893. The chief gain has been in Colorado. Africa produced $16,717,940 and western Australia $10,575,000.

The Search Light, a Prohibition paper, is of the opinion that "if the New York Tribune could, by some means, be struck from existence, there would be a far greater chance for reform than exists now."

Thomas D. Smith, supposed to be insane, saw a woman whom he thought was his mother-in-law, walking on Seventh avenue, in New York, last night, and coming up behind her, drew a knife across her throat, inflicting a probably fatal wound. As he drew back his hand after inflicting the wound he saw that the woman was one whom he had never seen before. He gave himself up and is very much cast down because of his "unfortunate mistake."

The Legislature seems in no hurry to act on Gov. Morton's suggestion that some of the State Commissions be abolished and others consolidated. The anxiety of the Republican leaders is not to get rid of the commissions but to get Democratic commissioners out and Republican commissioners in. As soon as the commissions are Republicanized all objections from Republicans to government by commission will be at an end.

Republican Assemblymen, who are suspected of a kindly feeling for Mr. Platt, are being inundated with anonymous letters, many of which are scurrilous in the extreme, and which threaten direful consequences if the alliance with Platt is not promptly broken and the legislator does not come out squarely for Reform, which is always written with a big R. The anonymous letter as an adjunct to reform is a novel, but not unnatural, development of hysterical politics.

Ever since wool was made free, manufacturers have been making heavy purchases, the sales for the past week having been 6,570,000 pounds, a million more than for the corresponding week in 1893. These heavy purchases are proof of growing confidence on the part of manufacturers that they will be able to meet foreign competition, and already jobbers and large retailers are placing heavy orders with American manufacturers for standard goods that were formerly bought abroad. One effect of free wool has been to force manufacturers to discontinue the use of shoddy and consumers are now getting better goods for much less money than they formerly paid. Free wool will prove a great blessing to the country.

Senator Lexow was holding forth against Tammany, Thursday, and in the course of his speech said that "Tammany men sat in the Senate under such a record of smirched votes, that they ought to be ashamed to look honest men in the face." To this Senator O'Sullivan, who says his election cost him a "trifle of $250" retorted by asking if part of the $8,000 Mr. Lexow spent to secure his election had not been spent in buying votes. It was a home thrust and Mr. Lexow was very angry, so angry that the jokers of the Senate profess to believe that he can only be appeased by a duel to the death. That eminent peace maker, Senator Owens, the ex-bartender from Brooklyn, has proffered his services as mediator. Senator Cantor has offered to be Mr. Lexow's second, so that if a duel is fought, it may be on a strictly bi-partisan basis. Despite all these pleasantries of his associates, Senator Lexow continues to take himself very seriously.

The Depot of the Fulton Street Line set on Fire—Railroads Crippled by the Storm.

BY UNITED PRESS.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 26.—Early this morning the depot of the Fulton street line was set on fire. The flames were discovered before they had made much headway and were speedily extinguished. During the night the police made many arrests of wire cutters.

The storm of last night and this morning added materially to the difficulties of operating the lines, and fewer cars were run during the earlier hours than yesterday. The total number of cars running on all lines was 253 against 437 yesterday. Connelly is still of the opinion that the men will win.

OBITUARY.

David Horan.

David Horan, a well known citizen of the town of Wawayanda, died, yesterday, at his home near Johnson, aged sixty-five years. The funeral will be held Monday, at 9 o'clock, from his late residence and at 10:30 o'clock from St. Joseph's Church.

Edward Southwell.

Mr. Edward Southwell, a former well know and highly esteemed resident of this city, died yesterday at the residence of his son, Edward, in Brooklyn, of pneumonia, after a short illness, aged sixty-four years.

Mr. Southwell was born in England and came to this country with his wife and three children in June, 1864, settling in this city, where he resided until two years ago when he went to Brooklyn to live with his son.

For many years he was an employe of the Erie. His last occupation here was night watchman at the silk mill.

Mr. Southwell was the father of twelve children, seven of whom are living. His wife died ten years ago and one daughter, Mary, wife of Charles Bowers, died four years ago. The surviving children are Richard, of this city; Edward, of the Brooklyn Milk Association; Emily, wife of John Sheerwood; Myra, wife of Wm. Barton, and George and Elmer, all of Brooklyn, and Lizzie, wife of Oscar Olson, of Bethlehem, Pa.

He is also survived by one brother, Wm. Southwell, of Cornwall, and by his mother and two sisters in England. Mr. Wm. Southwell, of this city, is a nephew of the deceased.

Mr. Southwell was a good citizen and during his long residence in this city made many friends and won the respect of all who knew him.

The body was brought to this city, this afternoon, and taken to the residence of his son, Richard Southwell, in the Watts building, No. 164 North street, where the funeral will take place at 2 p. m., to-morrow.

DIED IN SALT LAKE CITY.

A Former Sullivan County Man's Death in Utah.

Judge W. J. Groo received a telegram from Salt Lake City, yesterday, informing him of the death in that city, on Thursday afternoon, of his brother, Mr. Isaac Groo.

Mr. Groo was born in the town of Neversink, Sullivan county, and for many years resided there, where he had many friends.

He went to Salt Lake City in 1854, and for many years has been prominent in the affairs of that city.

REWARD FOR GALLANTRY.

What a Gentleman Got for Stopping a Runaway Horse and Preventing an Upset.

Last evening two young ladies were driving on North street; the sleigh caught in the car tracks and the ladies not having learned the trick of getting out of such a predicament, the sleigh was upset and the ladies thrown out. The horse started to run, but was caught by a gentleman who chanced to be near.

The ladies got in the sleigh again and started down North street. They had gone but a short distance when the sleigh runner was again caught in the rails and they would have had another upset if the same gentleman had not been near enough to grasp the horse by the bit and lead it in the right direction.

The reward the gentleman received was this remark from one of the ladies: "I guess I know how to drive."

A Prosperous Concern.

The Minisink Silk Manufacturing Co., of Unionville, is asking for subscriptions to a small block of stock, in order to secure increased working capital. The company has been running regularly since it started, Sept. 11th, has found a ready market for its goods, and orders have come in faster than they could be filled.

A Business Change.

Messrs Combs & Wilbur have purchased the insurance and real estate business of Theo. L. Reeve, one of the oldest agencies in the city and representing some of the strongest insurance companies in the country. The business was established by the late Oliver P. Reeve and Hanford L. Shaw many years ago.

In Olden Times.

People overlooked the importance of permanently beneficial effects and were satisfied with transient action; but now that it is generally known that Syrup of Figs will permanently cure habitual constipation, well-informed people will not buy other laxatives, which act for a time, but finally injure the system.

BURGLARS CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

A Young Man Sees Them in Pronk & Foster's Store and Notifies the Police —Young "Bob" Malone and His Tough Looking Pal Held for the Grand Jury —A Clear Case Against Them.

Alonzo Wilson, a young man residing at No. 84 East Main street, was awakened between half past two and three o'clock, this morning, by the sound of falling glass. Looking out his front window he saw two men enter the grocery store of Messrs. Pronk & Foster, at the corner of East Main and Robert streets.

A large pane of glass in the corner door of the store had been smashed in, and the men crawled through the hole thus made. Wilson watched them for a few moments, then slipped on his clothes and ran up to the centre of town, where he found Officers Wood and Tyrrell, and informed them of the burglary. Officer Tyrrell started down Main street, while Officer Wood ran around by way of Roberts street.

As Tyrrell approached the corner, he saw one of the men start to run, and he grabbed the other just as the latter stepped out through the hole in the door. He threw his man down and clapped the nippers upon his wrists. The second man started up Roberts street and in looking around to watch his pal, ran straight into the arms of Officer Wood. A scuffle ensued in which the officer was compelled to use his club in order to subdue his man.

The man captured by Tyrrell gave his name as James Hines, of Port Jervis. He had in his arms a paper flour bag, which contained a variety of articles, such as candy, tobacco, cigars, peanuts, etc.

A large collection of stuff was on the sidewalk ready for removal.

Officer Wood's man proved to be young "Bob" Malone. He said he "hadn't done anything," but a small clock belonging to Messrs. Pronk & Foster, was found in his pockets, together with papers of chewing tobacco and cigarettes, which Mr. Pronk, this morning, recognized as his property.

The men were locked up, and at 9 o'clock, this morning, were given a hearing before Recorder Bradner. They pleaded not guilty, and demanded an examination, which resulted in their being held, in default of $1,200 bail each, to await the action of the grand jury. They were taken to Goshen, this morning, on train 38.

Hines is a desperate looking character. He said he was born and bred in Port Jervis and gave his age as forty-one. He has a smooth face, black hair, and looks younger than he is. Although he has every appearance of the hardened criminal, he swore that he had never been arrested before and that this was his first scrape.

Young Malone's career is too well known to need repetition at this time. He has been arrested time and time again, and has spent the greater part of the past eight years in Albany penitentiary and Goshen.

Both men gave evidence of their hardened natures during the examination before the Recorder. The supreme assurance with which they both pleaded "not guilty" in the face of such positive and overwhelming proof as they knew could be brought against them was astonishing. When Mr. Pronk had finished identifying his property "Bob" wanted to know whether "there was tracks of one or two men in the store," and when told that his cross-questioning was irrelevant, said, "well, there's no use askin' any more; I won't get no show anyhow."

Hines wanted Officer Wood to "tell a good one while you're at it," while that functionary was giving testimony.

Conductor Schultz and another Port Jervis gentleman, who alighted from train 38, said that Hines was not a resident of that village.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN

No Clue to the Wounded Chicken Thief's Identity—Cataract's Hop—A Candidate for Collector—Nearly Fifty Years in Business.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—No clue to the identity of the chicken thief, who was shot by Geo. Kipp, yesterday morning, has been found. Mr. Kipp had the gun, which was of large calibre and heavily loaded, aimed at the thief's head, and when the fellow started to run, he told him to stop, or he would fire. When no attention was paid to his command, he lowered his gun and aimed for his legs, so as not to kill him. The charge of shot must have hit the flying thief in the hand or legs, for blood was spattered on the snow all across the lots where he ran.

—Cataract's Hop, last night, was another social success for the company, and a very enjoyable time was had by those present.

—"Gus" Dusenberry is being talked of as a candidate for Town Collector on the Democratic ticket. He would make a good one.

—William Fletcher, who has been in the meat business in Goshen for nearly fifty years, has sold his market to Arthur J. Scanlon, a New York butcher, and will devote his whole attention to the ice business. Few men have had as long a business career as Mr. Fletcher.

George Raser Arrested for Stealing at Unionville.

Geo. W. Raser, alias Madison, from whom Frank Crissmon, of Milford, recovered a whip a few days ago, was arrested, to day, by Deputy Sheriff Charles Faulkner on the charge of stealing a neck yoke and robe from the stables of VanSickle's hotel in Unionville.

Mr. Faulkner went to Raser's house near the toll gate north of this city, where he found the articles. Raser will be taken to Unionville, this evening.

BURGLARS AT PINE BUSH.

Two Stores and a Blacksmith Shop Entered and a Horse and Sleigh Stolen.

Capt. Grier received a telegram, this morning, asking him to look out for a horse and sleigh stolen from Taylor & Howell at Pine Bush, last night. The captain learned that Frank Dineen had found the horse near his place on North street, and telegraphed to Taylor & Howell, who sent a man after the rig.

Whoever stole the rig, first entered a blacksmith shop and stole tools, with which they forced open Wallace's and Taylor & Howell's stores.

What amount of booty they secured, we have not learned.

LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT.

A good "by" is a little thing,
With just a few tears to go,
But it takes away the sting
Of a thousand unspoken "no's"
That you make on lover's vow,
That you make on lover's vow.

A kiss of love is sweet and rare
After the quarrel's fray,
And it soothes the sorrows plowed by care,
The lines on face and brow,
The lines on face and brow,
In the years that have flown away.

'Tis a little thing to say, "You are kind—
I love you, my dear," each night,
But it makes a thrill through your heart, I find,
For love is no matter, love is blind,
As we climb Hate's rugged height.

We strive with each other for Love's caress;
We talk, but we do not give,
It needs only some soul to bless,
Let us close the Love grudgingly less and less
Till 'tis bitter and hard to live.

JEANNE'S BRAVERY.

Felix Labardie had been a French tireur in the great war of 1870, and I liked nothing better in the evening than to sit and listen to his stories of the terrible time when France lay gasping and bleeding.

One evening we had been silently smoking for some time when he said, "Did I ever tell you, monsieur, how I fell into the hands of the Germans and out again?"

"No," I said. "I thought the Germans shot all the guerrillas they caught."

"They let me go free, monsieur," he said, with a grim laugh. "It may seem incredible, monsieur, but Jeanne yonder held the life of royalty on her finger tips."

"I should like very much to hear the story," I said.

"Certainly, monsieur, and if monsieur thinks what was done was wrong he must excuse a woman in love.

"After Sedan, monsieur, a meeting was called in our village, and 30 of us enrolled ourselves as a company of Francs-tireurs. We felt we could do more for France as irregulars than serving under incompetent generals. We were well armed, and a brave and skillful old veteran commanded us. As the Germans were in force around Metz, we marched in that direction and made our headquarters in the hills behind a village called Pency, about three leagues from the fortress. It was in Pency Jeanne lived, and from the first moment I saw her, monsieur, I said to myself, 'If fortune is kind, Felix, that girl shall be your wife.' Her father was the miller of Pency, and the accursed Uhlans had almost ruined him. They were very bitter against the invaders, and my profession made me find favor in her eyes. Before we had been at Pency a month we had plighted our troth, on the understanding that we should not marry until France was rid of the enemy.

"Small as our band was, we made ourselves a terror to the marauding Uhlans, thanks to the generalship of old Montbon. Jeanne was invaluable to us. She was all eyes and ears, and Montbon called her the 'head of the intelligence department' of our band. I used to meet her every evening, when it was possible, in a little cave I had discovered, which, having no outlets, was proof against surprise.

"We staid three months at Pency, and then the place became too hot for us, and we prepared to leave for a village some leagues to the south. I fell into the hands of the Bavarians the very evening before we were to leave Pency.

"Jeanne declares to this day, and I believe rightly, that I was betrayed by a villager, a young fellow named Odeau, who believed the Virgin had intended Jeanne for his wife, and who was ever savage when she refused him. But be that as it may, monsieur, I was seized at dusk that evening as I was on my way to meet Jeanne, and taken so completely by surprise that I had not the least chance of defending myself or trying to escape, and, worse than all, was taken with the rifle in my hand.

"'You are an assassin,' said the stout little officer in command in barbarous French. 'You shall be shot. Where are your companions?'

"But I professed not to understand. I was afraid of being shot on the spot. There was much of the executioner and little of the judge in those days, monsieur.

"Much to my relief, my arms were bound behind me, and we set out for the hamlet where the Crown Prince Frederick had his headquarters.

"As Fortune would have it, Jeanne met us on the road. Monsieur would suppose that Jeanne is a quiet little woman, but monsieur has not seen her thoroughly aroused. She was roused then, monsieur. She flung herself on me and tried to release me. Then she seized the bayonet of a Bavarian, and if I had not begged her for my sake to be calm she would have fought the whole party single handed. Then she fell to beseeching them, for she could speak German well, but they only laughed at her and drove her off with foul words. My heart was like lead then, monsieur. But I did not know Jeanne.

"I was taken before the prince's adjutant, who promised me liberty if I would betray my compatriots. But I feigned stupidity, and when he found that I would tell nothing he ordered me to be shot at 5 the next morning. 'We give you till then,' he said, 'to find your tongue. You'll be dumb enough after.' And he laughed.

"I was bound like a log, monsieur, and thrown into a hut and brutally kicked. My thoughts were not pleasant all this time. I lay thinking of Jeanne, whom I should never see again, picturing that, when told, she would go home and weep for her helplessness and despair. But I did not know her then. She was working for me with all the energy and wit of a woman. Jeanne, Jeanne, ma petite, come here."

Jeanne came to the door.

"Come and tell monsieur how you saved me, ma petite."

A blush overspread Jeanne's features.

"What, that foolish story again?"

"Certainly not foolish," I interposed.

"I should deem it a kindness if you would oblige me."

"If monsieur wishes it, and monsieur will allow me, I will get my knitting."

"Certainly," I said.

"When I saw him carried off," Jeanne began as soon as she was seated, "I was in despair, for I knew what his fate would be. And then the good Virgin put an idea into my head, and I prayed to her to give me the strength and cunning to carry it out. There had been a sharp fight a week before, and I knew Jacques Pellot had possessed himself of some German uniforms that he had taken from the dead. So I demanded them from him and threatened him till he produced them. A sous-lieutenant's uniform fitted me nicely, and after cutting off my hair and concealing a pistol and dagger in my tunic I hurried away. I crept along cautiously when I neared the enemy's lines, for my plan was to get through the sentries without being challenged. When I heard the pickets, I dropped on the ground and crawled like a snake. And yet I was nearly caught. A German officer was leaning against a tree, and I almost touched him. I lay still without breathing audibly for a long time—how long I cannot say—until he moved away. Then, once inside the lines, I rose up and hastened to the prince's headquarters. I prayed for courage and then walked up to the door. I trembled so that I could hardly speak. Fortunately the officer did not observe my agitation.

"'Take me to his highness instantly,' I said in my best German. 'Important dispatches.'

"'Who from?' he began.

"'To his highness instantly,' I said boldly, but my knees shook under me.

"He looked at me closely in the dim light, and I felt ready to faint. Then without a word he took me to the prince's room. 'Important dispatches,' he said, knocking and showing me in.

"'From whom?' asked the prince.

"'In private, may it please your highness,' I stammered, but feeling that I would not leave without Felix's life or another for it.

"'Retire and leave us, Hauptt,' said the prince, and the officer, closing the door behind him, obeyed.

"'And now,' said the prince kindly. 'You look pale and ill, sir. What is your name?'

"The key was in the door, and I turned it swiftly. 'And now,' I said, pulling out my pistol and pointing it full at his face—my hand did not even tremble at that supreme moment—'your highness,' I said rapidly, 'if you call out, you are a dead man.'

"Ah, he was a German, but he was so brave, so brave! He did not even wince, but he looked straight into my eyes and smiled.

"'Ah,' he said lightly, 'a stratagem! Who are you, and what do you want?'

"'Monsieur le prince,' I said, 'I am the daughter of the miller of Pency. My lover, Felix Larondie, was taken by your men tonight as a Franc-tireur. If he is not already dead, he is condemned. I want his life or—you lose yours, monsieur.'

"'A woman!' he said. 'Well done,' and he smiled, and the pistol almost dropped from my hand with the pity of it till I thought of Felix. 'I know nothing of this, my good woman. No, but stay. Here are some papers Eiberfeld has left for me to sign. Ah, here it is. Felix Larondie, peasant, taken with arms. To be shot at 5 a. m.'

"'He shall not die, your highness, or'—I could not threaten him with words, but my pistol was steady.

"'But he is an assassin.'

"'No,' I cried, 'he is a soldier, though he does not wear the uniform. Imagine, your highness,' I said, 'if I should have dared so much for a murderer.'

"'But he has fought as a Franc-tireur, not as a soldier.'

"'What of that, monsieur? And if he had not fought for France in her hour I would spurn him from me. He must go free, your highness, if you value your life.'

"'My life is in the hands of God, mademoiselle,' he said, lifting his eyes to mine. 'Threats do not move me, but you are a brave woman.'

"And then my courage left me, monsieur, and I dropped the pistol and flung myself sobbing at his feet and beseeched and entreated him. And he raised me, monsieur, and made me drink wine and tell him all the story. Ah, but he was brave and a true gentleman! And when I had told him all he said, 'He shall be pardoned,' adding, with a smile, 'Such a devoted woman must not go husbandless.' And then I fell to weeping again, monsieur, and kissed his hand and tried to thank him. And he took me to Felix, and he was released. I flung myself on Felix and cut his bonds myself, and we thanked the prince together. We women don't find out if men are worth it till afterward, monsieur," with a sly look at her husband. "Three days later an orderly came with a bracelet from his highness, and on it was engraved, 'To a brave and devoted Frenchwoman.' See, I wear it still.

"Ah, monsieur, we wept when that noble prince died, and the great doctor could not save him. We sent a wreath, and I presumed to write to the empress. She is a worthy daughter of your queen, monsieur. She sent me a letter written with her own hand. She was worthy of that true and brave gentleman, her husband."—Exchange.

A Diamond Test.

Some time ago we copied from La Nature a picture representing a design drawn on glass by a pencil of aluminium. C. Margot now points out the fact that if the aluminium is dissolved away by an acid the drawing is still quite visible, with every appearance of an etching. He holds that true chemical union occurs between the aluminium and the glass. He has found that quartz, emerald, topaz and other hard crystals can be etched in the same manner, but the diamond is unaffected. This gives a new test for a genuine diamond.—Exchange.

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

Tuesday, January 29th,

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month. Office hours from 10:30 a. m. to 6 p. m.

SHE FOLLOWED HIM.

Few Women Would Have Thought of It, But She Did.

"I have a wife that beats the world," remarked the drummer in a prefatory kind of a way.

"Including yourself?" inquired the hotel clerk.

"Mentally and morally, yes, but not physically, though I am not so sure about that that I would provoke her enough to find out. Anyway, she's a daisy," he went on, "and I'll give you an example of what a Napoleon she is under difficulties. Last summer I was in New York, and she was stopping in New Hampshire. For some reason she took a notion to come down where I was, and when she got to the place where I had been stopping I wasn't there, as I had changed my boarding house. The landlady didn't know where I was, and I hadn't told my wife about my moving, for I did not expect her to come for a week or so later and was going to write her. Well, when she got there and could not find me she was stumped, for a lone woman is decidedly lone in a big town like New York. But my wife is not one of the kind to sit down and cry. On the other hand, she got up straight and began to think how to find me, and she did it in a manner that was surprising. It was about 4 o'clock when she came into town. By 5 she had completed her scheme, and that evening about 7, as I was talking to a friend in front of the Fifth Avenue hotel, I happened to be looking at that stereopticon advertisement show just below Twenty-third street on that high building, and, by the powers, the first thing I knew something was on the screen that almost took my breath away."

"'Look at that,' says I to my friend.

"'What is it?' says he.

"'Read that message on the screen,' says I.

"'W. H. Blank is wanted at his late boarding house on Sixty-third street. Mary.'

"'By gum, old man,' says he, 'that's you.'

"'Right you are,' says I, and in a very few minutes I was there, and found my wife waiting for me, and tickled almost to death over the original way of finding me. Do you know of any other woman in this country or any other," concluded the drummer, "that would have thought of such a detective agency as that to have found a lost husband?" And the hotel clerk wanted to take up a collection among the married men of the hotel for a medal.—Detroit Free Press.

Too Much House For One Family.

A benevolent woman living at Glendale, N. J., devotes much of her time to entertaining children who live in the lower wards of New York and who of course have crude ideas of country life. During Christmas week this woman invited a dozen of the little urchins to her house and was rewarded for her trouble by the thorough way in which the children enjoyed themselves. In the party was one little girl scarcely 5 years old. She came from a crowded tenement house on the east side and took the most intense interest in everything she saw. After a careful inspection of everything on the parlor floor of her hostess' house she asked in a curious tone, "Who lives down stairs?"

"We do," was the reply.

"Who lives up stairs?"

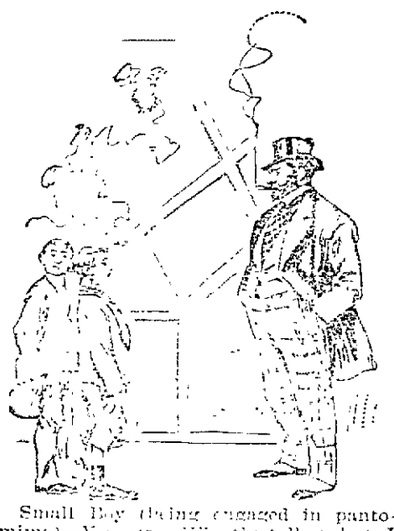
"We do."

"Well, who lives above that?"

"Why, we do, of course," said the hostess, with much interest. "What makes you ask?"

"Why, don't no Italians live in this house?" asked the little tot in open eyed wonder.—New York Tribune.

Superior.



Small Boy (being engaged in pantomime)—Yes, sir. I'm the tallest, but I got the biggest foot.

Scientifically Considered.

"Merely as a new experience, Wendell," said the Boston young woman, blushing faintly and wiping her lips, "I find it not disagreeable to kiss. But do not let it happen again. It is utterly illogical, irrelevant, and recent scientific investigation shows that it is fraught with microbes."

It seems the foolhardy young man had kissed her.—Chicago Tribune.

Toning It Down.

Bob was paying attention to a rich widow. "Madam," he said as her offered her a bouquet, "you are getting more and more beautiful every day."

"You exaggerate, my dear sir!" exclaimed the lady, very much flattered.

"Well, then, let us say every other day," said Bob.—Tit-Bits.

Zero.

Her Father—What is your income, sir?

Her Lover—I can only give it to you in round numbers.

Her Father—Ah!

Her Lover—No other numbers will express it.

Her Father—Oh!—Detroit Tribune.

Didn't Dare Stop.

Catterson—What on earth are you dancing about so for, old man?

Hatterson—My wife bought the under clothes I have on at a bargain counter, and if I don't keep moving they'll shrink up on me.—Clothier and Furnisher.

The Question Direct.

She—Mother objected to my reading your book because it was—er—too sensational.

The Rising Author—And what did you think of it?—New York World.

A Sunny South Item.

"Where in thunder are you going with that stove and all those overcoats?"

"I am going, my friend, to spend the winter in Florida."—Atlanta Constitution.

What A Comfort

it is to feel that the appetite can be indulged and gratified without paying dearly for it afterwards. Dyspepsia is so common a complaint that many people look upon it as one of the necessary evils of life. But it is not. It can be avoided if you have it not; it can be CURED if you have it.

The first trouble comes from indigestion. Help Nature at once! Do not let the disease get its first hold upon you!

You should have in the house a bottle of

Dana's SARSAPARILLA

and use it at once if your food distresses you. It may save you much suffering, but remember also that it is

The Kind that Cures

MR. H. B. DAY, of 256 West 22d St., NEW YORK CITY writes us: "I can recommend DANA'S Sarsaparilla to all who cannot keep their food on their stomachs. Food made me sick, and after each meal I would vomit it up. DANA'S CURED me, and I am sure will CURE others in the same fix."

CARELESS RAILROAD PASSENGERS

People Who Leave Valuables In Cars.

Dr. Spriggies in the Newburgh Journal says: There are still some careless people in the world. A few days ago Conductor George L. King found a pocket book on his train containing a moderate sum of money which some passenger had dropped. He is now anxious to find and return it to the owner, and has made the initiatory effort to this end. This is not the first time that money has been left on the Erie's "Short Cut" trains. A few years ago a prominent Newburgh business gentleman left the train upon arriving in Newburgh and also left lying upon the seat he had occupied a package containing $2,500. A trainman found it and it was soon restored to the owner. In a few days thereafter the conductor and trainmen received orders for new hats. The orders were duly honored. A Washingtonville business man a few years ago also left a considerably larger sum in a Branch train car. It was also returned and the "boys" were also remembered.

Coasters Collide With a Trolley Car.

A bob sled on which there were half-a-dozen young people ran into a trolley car in Paterson, Thursday night. None of the coasters were very badly hurt, though all were scratched and bruised. One young young woman was thrown twenty feet and her clothes torn into ribbons. A colored boy had been hired by the coasters to stand at the crossing and give warning of danger but he neglected his duty.

Catching Tom Cod Far Up the Hudson.

Large numbers of tom cod are being caught through the ice, at Port Ewen. Fishermen say that the fish has never before been caught so far up the river, since they never leave brackish water. It is thought, therefore, by many, that for some reason, the salt water of the ocean has come further up the Hudson, and that this circumstance may account for the very poor quality of the ice, which is thin and porous.

Cost of the Halliday Trial.

From the Monticello Watchman.

The expenses paid jurors and witnesses to convict Mrs. Halliday were $2,830.55. The above amount includes $300 paid to Mr. Carpenter for defending the woman, and $63 paid Dr. Mann, the expert witness for the prosecution; also the small sums paid Justices of Sessions and court officers. Crime is an expensive curse.

Two Ladies Fall and Break Their Limbs.

Mrs. Bortelle, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. John Steele, in Port Jervis, fell in the yard at her home, Thursday, and fractured one of her legs.

Mrs. Jacob Brown, of Sparrowbush, met with a similar accident on the same day.

A Double Wedding.

An interesting nuptial event occurred at the home of Mr. A. C. Tyler in Cochecton, Wednesday, Jan. 23, when the two daughters of that gentleman, Misses Maude Victoria and Susie Adeline, were united in marriage with Messrs. Joel Crawford, of Eldred, N. Y., and Peter E. Babcock, of Cochecton, respectively.

In the Hands of a Receiver.

The Delaware Valley Electric Railway, on which considerable work was done last fall, has passed into the hands of M. F. Coolbaugh and Edward H. Peters, of Bushkill, who have been appointed receivers. The line was laid out from Stroudsburg to Port Jervis.

Farm Auction Prices.

From the Montgomery Standard.

The sale of the Wm. E. Sears estate was largely attended and good prices realized. Fresh milch cows sold from $25 to $40. Beef and dry cows from $11 to $20. A large quantity of good hay sold in lots from $10 to $12 per ton. Phil. Hasbrouck was auctioneer.

A Very Large Bull.

From our Montgomery Correspondent.

Anderson & Cook, on Thursday, slaughtered a bull for John P. Covert, that was a monster. It was three years old, and a full-blooded registered Holstein. The hide weighed 142 pounds and the carcass over 1,200 pounds.

Forty-Five Years a Station Agent.

Mr. T. B. Cameron, the Erie agent at Washingtonville, is probably the oldest station agent in the employment of the company in point of service, he having filled the position at Washingtonville since 1850.

Truly Marvelous.

I wish to state that I have used Dr. Otto's German Cough Cure for myself and family and consider it the very best cough remedy I have ever used.

Its effects in my own case were truly marvelous as I had a very bad cough and was losing flesh rapidly.

I would heartily recommend Otto's Cure to all suffering with throat or lung troubles. Yours Respectfully. E. J. Norris, Montgomery, N. Y.

IT PAYS when you buy a farm to advertise in THE DAILY ARGUS.

A SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Lea & Corey Sued for $3,000 for the Shooting of Roy Sloat at Harlem Park on July 4th.

Mr. J. Whitfield Sloat has through his attorneys, O'Neill & Royce, brought suit against George Lea and H. W. Corey, lessess of Harlem Park, for $3,0000 damages for injuries sustained by his son, Roy, during the celebration on July 4th, 1894.

It will be remembered that among other amusements at the park on that day was target shooting. Young Sloat was in the crowd outside of the grounds when a bullet struck him in the knee, inflicting a wound from which he was laid up for several weeks.

It is claimed by Mr. Sloat that the ball came from the shooting gallery, and that the target was placed against a small tree with nothing beyond it to intercept the balls if they missed the tree.

The defense will claim that the boy was not in range of the target and that the ball that struck him could not have been fired from the shooting gallery, but came from a pistol fired by some one in the crowd.

To Award Prizes for Whist at the Close of the Season.

The Whist Club was very pleasantly entertained at the residence of Hon. Frank Buckley, last evening. The club voted to award prizes at the end of the season, to the two persons having made the best record. Mrs. C. C. Luckey was chosen to keep the scores, the cards to be turned over to her after each evening's play.

Cannot Accept the W. C. T. U's. Invitation.

The W. C. T. U. has been notified by Miss Gordon, private secretary of Miss Frances E. Willard, that it will not be possible for Miss Willard and Lady Henry Somerset to accept the Union's invitation to visit Middletown, every day being engaged up to March 6th, when Lady Somerset sails for England.

Victimized by Green Goods Men in Newburgh.

A Wisconsin youth named Bennett not over eighteen years of age, arrived in Newburgh, Thursday night, and, yesterday, according to agreement, met two green goods men, who were to sell him $2,500 of counterfeit money for $250. He gave up his money only to find after the swindlers had gone, that he had received nothing but sawdust.

The Blooming Grove Creamery Leased.

The Blooming Grove creamery, which has been closed for several months on account of a disagreement between the proprietors, is soon to be operated again, having been leased by the Pierson Sanford Milk Co.

THE TESLA OSCILLATOR.

The Young Montenegrin's Invention and What is Claimed For It.

Tesla's latest invention, the "oscillator," is one of the most remarkable appliances of the age. It is aptly described as being the core of a steam engine and the core of a dynamo, combined and given a harmonious mechanical adjustment. This combination constitutes a machine which has in it the potentiality of reducing to the rank of old bell metal half the machinery at present moving on the face of the globe. It may come to do the entire work of the engines of an ocean steamship within a small part of the space they now occupy and at a fraction of their cost both of construction, and operation. It will do this work without jar or pounding and will reduce to a minimum the risk of derangement or breakage. There is nothing in the whole range of mechanical construction from railway locomotives to stamp mills, which such an invention may not revolutionize.

The essential characteristic of the machine is the application of the pressure of steam to produce an extremely rapid vibration of a bar of steel or piston, which in turn is so adapted to a set of magnets that the mechanical energy of the vibration is converted into electricity. The extraordinary result is that practically an absolutely constant vibration is established, and a power is attained greatly beyond that obtainable in the most costly expansion engines using a similar amount of steam. Besides saving in mechanical friction the 35 per cent of loss in the working of the engine, the 15 per cent of loss by belt friction and the 10 per cent wasted in the dynamo, making altogether an addition of 60 per cent to the available energy obtained from the steam for the purpose of producing electricity, it is simpler, smaller and lighter than the mechanism it is destined to replace, absolutely constant in its action, automatically regulated and subject to the least possible amount of wear and tear. The utilization of this machine in any branch of industry would result in an appreciable lowering in the cost of production, and it is quite possible that its first general employment may be in electric lighting. In the face of this marvelous invention a recent statement of Tesla seems hardly no longer visionary. The young inventor said, "I expect to be able to set a machine in the middle of this room and move it by no other agency than the energy of the medium in motion around us."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

VERY HEAVY SCHOOL TAXES

Schools a Heavy Burden in Poor and Sparsely Peopled Districts.

From the Livingston Manor Ensign.

School Districts Nos. 3, 5, 8 and 10, of the town of Hardenburgh, Ulster Co., are heavily burdened with school taxes, as are many school districts remote from the railroad. The valuation in the districts above mentioned is about $3,000 each. The amount raised for the school year of '94 and '95 is about $240, making a rate of $8 for each $100 of valuation. The school tax in these districts is three time larger than their State, county and town tax, which is $2 85 per $100. It is said that the average attendance through the winter is between two and three scholars.

A petition to the State Legislature is being circulated for names which asks the Legislature for relief from these burdens.

"FAUST" AT THE CASINO.

A Creditable Performance that Pleased a Fair Sized Audience

The production of "Faust," at the Casino, last evening, drew a fair sized audience, which was apparently well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Several of the electrical and mechanical effects which were introduced during the play were well done, particularly the shower of fire, which closed the fourth act.

Mr. Learock, as the arch-fiend, Mephistopheles, gave a very finished performance, and although suffering from a severe cold, his lines were spoken in a manner which gave evidence of careful study and an admirable conception of the author's ideas.

The Marguerite of Miss Isabel Pitt Lewis was weak, her voice being entirely inadequate for the requirements of the role.

Of the others in the caste, Mr. Doughty, as Faust, and Mr. Hammersly, as Valentine, were the more prominent.

THE WHITE CROOK.

A Great Spectacle at the Casino Monday Night.

The Troy Standard says of "The White Crook," to be played at the Casino, Monday night:

No spectacular entertainment has created such a marked impression with our theatre-goers as the "White Crook." The title in itself savors of something new. A better pleased audience could not be seen anywhere than that that filled the Gaiety Theatre last night. Every promise made by the management of his exceptional organization was fulfilled to the letter. Each act was a feature; each artist a credit to his or her particular role. The scenery was magnificent, and the costumes not only showed great taste, but were exquisite in design. Taken as a whole, it is the most pleasing and satisfactory performance seen in many a day.

GIVEN UP ALL HOPE

Eczema, Turning to Blood Poison Treated by Specialists Seven Months without One Particle of Success.

BODY RUNNING SORES.

Condition Terrible. Life a Burden. Tried CUTICURA. In Three Days Attends to Business. Cure Permanent.

In the spring of 1891 I took that dreadful skin disease, Eczema, which turned into blood poison. I consulted the best known specialists in this city. They treated me for seven months but I never derived a particle of good from any of them. They had given it up as a hopeless cure. I was covered with sores from head to foot; I had running sores all over me, some of them as large as a box of your CUTICURA. It cost me hundreds of dollars with these so-called specialists. My condition was terrible, life was almost a burd n to me. I could not eat, drink, or sleep. I was unable to walk and had given myself up as dead. I tried all medicines imaginable, until a friend who had got relief advised me to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. I sent out and got them, and when I took the first dose of your CUTICURA RESOLVENT I felt a little better; with three boxes of your most valuable CUTICURA and one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT I was a new man. In three days I was up walking around and attending to my business, and it is the CUTICURA and CUTICURA RESOLVENT that saved me from the jaws of death. This is two years ago. I wanted to see if it had been driven out of my system, and I can say I have never had any trouble since for two years. GEO. F. BRIGHT, 2925 Penn. Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.
